

Heritage Furnishings of Atlantic Canada: A Visual Survey with Pertinent Points

Heritage Furnishings of Atlantic Canada is a story in pictures of good taste prevailing. From about 1660 to 1830, the decorative arts in Britain reflected a revival of the aesthetics of Classicism with its universal laws of proportion. Superb taste ruled in the design of furniture and the objects of daily living. During this period, the greatest furniture that Western civilization has ever known was created. Indentured British cabinetmakers brought these special skills to the cities of Saint John, Fredericton, and Halifax. By the 1830s, provincial furniture of the Regency period had reached a high state of achievement, with a wide range of furniture of the best quality being produced.
