

Early Period and Popular Dance Music

This book is a collection of musical arrangements for musicians intending on performing for Renaissance and Early Baroque dancers involved with Renaissance Festivals, Society for Creative Anachronism(SCA), and other re-creation groups. The formats of the arrangements are setup to specify the number of repetitions required to match the choreography. The settings are inclined towards recorders which are typically the most popular instruments for large groups. The introduction has a listing of sources for the music and the choreography for each of the dances both historical and re-enactment related. The book comes spiral bound with clear plastic covers.
